

These blogging tips are a great way to share with new blogger that are interested in a way to get paid to blog.

Having a blog is almost a must for any network marketer today. Once you have your blog set up, in order to make money blogging, you can no longer rely on the old ways to generate traffic to your site. Today, you must be creative and these 8 blogging tips should be of great benefit to you.

One of the blogging tips is to take advantage of 2.0 marketing. Getting on the different social networks where people are congregating to talk and visit. If you're new and know absolutely nothing about how to make money blogging then these 8 blogging tips should help you get started.

1) One of the first blogging tips that you need to know is how to drive traffic to your blog.

Driving large amounts of traffic to your blog will insure that you make money blogging. One way to get your blog found is to learn how to optimize it for the different search engines and using a SEO plug in like SeoPressor will make the job very easy for you. It will pinpoint all the areas that need to be addressed for high ranking and optimizing your blog site is also one of the great blogging tips.

Using article marketing, forum posting and commenting on other blogs is three blogging tips that I would urge you to implement immediately. This creates back linking and helps in raising your rank with sites like Google.

2) Be sure to Optimize your blog name is one of the best blogging tips that I could give you.

When you choose a domain name for your blog, be sure that the name contains your keywords and that the domain name is easy to spell. The name must tell the prospect what your blog is about. You only have 30 seconds to get a prospects attention.

3) Placing advertising on your blog is another way to get paid to blog!

Google offers a program called ad sense where you get paid each time someone visits your site and clicks on an ad that might interest them.

Amazon and Click bank are other companies that will pay you a commission but only if someone clicks on and buys something.

4) Making money blogging requires some Link Building!

You can activity offer to exchange links with other blogs that are involved in the same topic as you. This blogging tip has been used by some of the top bloggers because they know that search engines will increase your rank based on the number and the quality of links pointing back to your blog.

5) You can also join paid blogging networks as well!

Check out other sites for programs that are being promoted or new start ups and write a review on those services. People love to read "how to" or "reviews" to get information before they make a purchase.

6) If you want to get paid to blog, Update your blog on a regular basis!

I would suggest updating your blog at least 2 or 3 times a week so that your readers have constant new content to keep them involved.

Post a new article or make a new video and post it to your blog occasionally. This blogging tip will keep your customers actively reading and re-reading your blog on a weekly basis.

7) Once you write your blog post, check it for grammar and spelling.

In order to make money blogging and look like a professional doing it, prospects will not accept bad grammar or massive spelling errors. I suggest writing your blog post, then letting it set for 24 hours, come back, read it again and you will easily find errors that were overlooked on the first reading.

8) Be Original

Prospects and readers don't want to read the same ole rehashed jargon over and over, so take this marketing tip to heart and give them something new and refreshing. Allow your personality to come through as you write your post, some people say that you should write like you talk.

Give that a try and test the results for yourself. If you're new and want to make money blogging, use these blogging tips as a guide to help you grow your blog, practice your writing skills daily and weekly and with each improvement you should see traffic start to migrate to your blog just from using these blogging tips.

These blogging tips will only work for you if you go out and put them to use.
